From the BARBADOS MERCURY.

BARBADOS, Sept. 1.

ON monday laſt died, at his Bell plantation, Gedney Clarke, Eſq; collector of his majeſty's cuſtoms at the port of Bridge-Town: The corpſe, which was attended by a numerous company, was entered on tueſday evening in St. Michael's church-yard, after a ſermon ſuitable to the occaſion, by the Reverend Mr. Jonathan Downes, from the following words, Whatſoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might, for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wiſdom in the grave, whither thou goeſt. Eccleſiaſtes, Chap. IX. Verſe the 10. What was delivered as the character of the deceaſed, was generally allowed to be as true and juſt, as commendable; and though we have not been favoured with it from the hands of the worthy divine who preached it, we have the pleaſure of preſenting our readers with the following, from another hand.

The death of Col. Clarke (ſays our correſpondent) is certainly a great loſs to this iſland in particular, and to ſociety in general. No man had more extenſive concerns to tranſact, both reſpecting the public, himſelf, his relations, and friends; in doing which, he gave intire and general ſatisfaction. Integrity, truth, candour, juſtice, and right equitable principles, actuated him on all occaſions; and rendered his friendſhip moſt valuable. No complaint or murmuring was ever made, or uttered againſt him as a public officer, but every thing moſt readily done by him that could reaſonably be deſired. He was thanked and commended by every one who entruſted him, for the wiſdom and diſcretion he manifeſted in conducting their concerns. His principles reſpecting liberty, freedom, and a public ſpirit, were quite conſiſtent with true patriotiſm. He abominated all inhumanity, cruelty, and oppreſſion, of every kind; and every mean or ſiniſter meaſure to deceive, wrong, or injure any one, or to diſguiſe or conceal the truth, or that rectitude of behaviour he wiſhed every one to practiſe; and ſhewed his reſentment when he believed it was deviated from. He was as diligent to promote the public good and welfare of his country, as he was induſtrious and indefatigable in advancing his own. By the divine favour, and an unparalleled aſſiduity in buſineſs, he became maſter of a plentiful fortune, which he was continually laying and embracing ſchemes for improving, for the benefit, happineſs and proſperity of his family; though theſe were not the only ends of his unwearied and exceſſive toils in the purſuit and acquiſition of temporal goods. He acted in a more enlarged ſphere, that he might be more uſeful to the country in which he lived and acquired it, and to the nation in general. He gave bread to numbers of people who were employed in his ſervice; and the poor, the widow, and the orphan rejoiced in his bounty. His numerous ſlaves experienced in him the moſt conſiderate, tender, humane maſter. As he was very induſtrious himſelf, he was a great encourager and promoter of it in others, but to idleneſs and ſupineneſs he was a mortal enemy, and utterly diſcountenanced their followers and abettors. He was warm, ſincere, and faithful in his friendſhips, and never maſked or diſguiſed his reſentment; but as he was generous in the one, he was placable and kind in the other. With regard to ſtrangers, he was civil, courteous and hoſpitable: Abundance, ſtript of luxury, overſpread his table, and chearfulneſs, without the leaſt inſincerity, welcomed his viſitants. Thoſe who came to him as ſtrangers parted with him as friends, ſo engaging and attractive was his ſpirit of beneficence and hoſpitality. He was a moſt dutiful affectionate ſon to excellent parents, who had taken the beſt care of his education, and well cultivated and improved his mind with religious principles, which he often remembered. He ſpoke with reverence of religion, and treated its profeſſors with civility and reſpect. As a tender huſband, an indulgent father, affectionate brother, faithful and kind friend, he cannot be too much praiſed and recommended; nor as an honeſt man, and a fair punctual dealer. In this enlarged ſphere of perſonal and ſocial worth, he recommended himſelf to the univerſal eſteem, not only of his friends and acquaintances, but of all impartial and unprejudiced perſons. Whoever recollects or mentions any of his imperfections, ſhould conſider whether his excellencies do not much exceed them, and whether ſociety would not be bleſſed in having many poſſeſſed of theſe virtues, which ſhone conſpicuous in him, and which ought to be had in everlaſting remembrance.

October 20. Saturday laſt, the 13th inſtant, a ſubſcription was opened by the brethren of the moſt ancient and honourable Society of FREE and ACCEPTED MASONS, for raiſing a ſum of money to erect or purchaſe a building for holding the ſeveral lodges; as alſo for the entertainment of the brethren on the feſtival days, &c. when the brethren then preſent ſubſcribed to the amount of THREE HUNDRED POUNDS: and as there has ſince been an addition to the ſubſcription of about SEVENTY POUNDS, it is hoped that every brother will chearfully contribute to this laudable undertaking.

Nov. 3. The ſhip Charming Nelly (now called the Tobago) Capt. Smith, in which his excellency gen. Melvile, and the gentlemen going to the Iſlands under his govenment, came from England, being a fine ſhip of about 670 tons burthen, and alſo the ſhip Melville, of about 300 tons, are employed by the government to remain at the iſland of Tobago, in the moſt healthy and convenient ſituation, for the accommodation of the officers of government, and of all perſons in general who ſhall come to ſettle in the ſaid iſland, until houſes can be erected for their reſidence on ſhore.

We hear that the honourable Alexander Brown, Eſq; Lieutenant-Governor of the iſland of Tobago, and Robert Stewart, Eſq; one of the commiſſioners for the ſale and diſpoſal of his Majeſty's lands in Granada, the Grenadines, and ceded iſlands, will proceed next Wedneſday in the ſhip Melville, Robert Ogilvie commander, to the iſland of Tobago, in order to determine, with all poſſible ſpeed, on the moſt ſuitable and healthy ſituation for the immediate eſtabliſhment of a town and fortifications in the ſaid iſland, and that certain parcels of land, in the moſt convenient places, will be ſet apart at the ſame time, to be granted by the general in different allotments, on very eaſy terms of cultivation, to perſons deſirous to become ſettlers, but not able to undertake the ſettlement of ſugar plantations.

The place fixed on for a town, which will be in one of the moſt healthy ſituations on the windward ſide, is immediately to be laid out in the moſt commodious manner, and granted by the general in town lots to be built on, and a ſmall paſture or field annexed to each lot, to ſuch perſons as ſhall firſt apply for the ſame. Theſe matters being put on the beſt footing, the ſurveyors and all other perſons concerned, are to be immediately employed in laying out allotments for plantations, to be diſpoſed of by public ſale; and as ſoon as the time for ſuch ſale can be fixed, and the allotments deſcribed, proper advertiſements, with the terms and conditions of the ſame, will be publiſhed, giving as early notice as poſſible.

From the GRANADA GAZETTE.

Fort-Royal, Oct. 3. On wedneſday laſt, about eleven o'clock at nigh, a moſt terrible fire broke out in the windward-moſt houſe in the town of Sauteure, which burnt with great fury, and continued till twelve other houſes were entirely deſtroyed. About twelve o'clock the troops under the command of Capt. Orme and Lieutenant Phipps, came to the aſſiſtance of the inhabitants; and by the activity and conduct of thoſe gentlemen in particular, the fire was got under much ſooner than could otherwiſe have been expected. Various are the opinions on account of this diſaſter, but the moſt general is, that it was purpoſely ſet on fire by the people belonging to a French flag of truce then laying in the harbour. We have not yet been able to learn the amount of the value of the damage done, but are informed it is very conſiderable, excluſive of the loſs of the houſes.

From the ANTIGUA GAZETTE.

St. John's, October 10. On the 8th of laſt month, the ſnow Eagle, commanded by Captain James Hutton, in the latitude 28. 44. and longitude 65, about eight in the evening, met with a whirlwind, which in about half a minute overſet the veſſel and turned her keel upwards; the people, eleven in number, got upon her bottom, where they remained that night in expectation of death every moment; in the morning they catched four ducks which ſwam from the wreck, and the ſame day the boat broke from the ring-bolts with her oars laſhed to her ſides, which with much hazard and difficulty they ſecured and got into: In this melancholly ſituation they left the ſnow, without any thing to ſubſiſt on but the four ducks, which in 48 hours died, and they eat them. The next day they ſaw a ſail, but ſoon loſt ſight of her; on the 3d it rained and the people got water, which they drank from Capt. Hutton's hat, allaying their thirſt for the preſent, but having nothing to ſave any in, were ſoon reduced to their former drought by the intenſe heat of the weather to which they were expoſed: In this dreadful ſituation they continued ten days, when one of their number died, of whoſe body they reſerved the moſt fleſhy parts in order to ſubſiſt on, if not relieved from their diſtreſſes the next day; but it pleaſed God, that the ſcooner Dolphin, Capt. Anderſon, from North-Carolina, appeared in ſight and took them up. When Capt. Anderſon firſt diſcovered them, there were only two men rowing, but upon their nearer approach as many as could riſe ſtood up, which made the captain doubtful that they might be Pirates, and accordingly he ordered them to keep off or he would fire into the boat among them; but they acquainted him with their melancholly condition, and ſeeing the mangled limbs of their dead companion, he very humanely took them on board, refreſhed them, and in a few days landed them in St. Euſtatius. Thus were thoſe poor people eleven days in an open boat without any ſubſiſtance. Capt. Hutton was reduced ſo low, that he was lifted out of the boat into the ſcooner.—Capt. Hutton and the ſcooner are arrived here.

The following reflection, made in the Annual Regiſter for 1763, after giving the account of the conqueſt of the Manillas, cannot, we think, fail of being agreeable to our readers.

"This was the laſt of our conqueſts; and the nation, already in full enjoyment of the ſweets of peace, had ſtill the ſatisfaction to receive from the remoteſt parts of the globe, the news of victories, which augmented her honour and her riches. There never had been a period more fortunate to Great-Britain. She had conquered in the courſe of this war a tract of continent of immenſe extent. Her American territory approached to the borders of Aſia; it came very near the frontiers of the Ruſſian and Chineſe dominions; and it may one day become as powerful as either of thoſe empires. She had conquered twenty-five iſlands, all of them diſtinguiſhable for their magnitude, their riches, or the importance of their ſituation. She had won by ſea and land, in the courſe of this war, twelve battles; ſhe had reduced nine fortified cities and towns, and near forty forts and caſtles; ſhe had deſtroyed or taken above an hundred ſhips of war from her enemies; and acquired at leaſt ten millions in plunder."

RUN AWAY from the ſubſcriber, in June laſt. A tall young negro fellow named JACK, this country born, of a yellowiſh complexion, is about nineteen years of age, ſtutters very much in his ſpeech. Whoever will deliver him to me at my plantation, or to the warden of the work-houſe, ſhall receive a reward of TEN POUNDS and his other charges: Or, whoever will give me information of all being harboured or entertained, ſhall on conviction of the offender, receive TWENTY POUNDS reward, from

JOHN WARING.

N.B. I ſhall want for the enſuing year, TWO or THREE well recommended OVERSEERS. tf.

We hear that the brigantine Guepe, belonging to his Most Chriſtian Majeſty, which arrived here the 6th inſt. from St. Domingo, brought diſpatches for Sir William Burnaby, commander in chief of his majeſty's ſhips on this ſtation, from the count D'Eſtaing, governor of the French leeward iſlands. Theſe diſpatches were in anſwer to the admiral's letter to the count, ſent ſome time ago by his Majeſty's ſhip Venus, concerning hoſtilities committed on Turks Iſland in June laſt, by the French, who burnt all the houſes, plundered the place, and carried off ſeveral ſail of veſſels, with all the inhabitants they could lay hold of.

'Tis ſaid, the count D'Eſtaing declares the French officers who were there, had orders only to build two Phares, or marks, for the benefit of navigation, (one of which Capt. Weller deſtroyed, as it appeared to be only a mark of poſſeſſion) and that he will, in conſequence of the admiral's repreſentation, forbid any French veſſels going to thoſe iſlands, till ſuch time as he receives directions from France, concerning the claim to them.

Thoſe iſlands are a part of the Bahama iſlands, belonging to Great-Britain, and have conſtantly been inhabited by Britiſh ſubjects, particularly Bermudians, for near one hundred years paſt. Their employment is making ſalt, with which they ſupply this iſland and ſeveral parts of the continent. And it is reported great numbers of Bermudians intended this year to have ſettled there, but were prevented by the depredations of the French before-mentioned.

The brigantine which arrived here the 12th inſtant, with the lieutenant of his Majeſty's ſloop Swift, from the harbour of Bonacco, on the Muſquito ſhore, brings an account that the pilot of the Swift run her on a ridge of rocks, going into that harbour the 12th of July laſt; that they cut away her maſts, and threw her guns overboard, after which ſhe drove over the ridge. The lieutenant left her two days after at an anchor in the harbour; and they are obliged to pump her continually, and it is thought ſhe will not be able to come up to this iſland. She was returning from the River Baliſe, in the bay of Honduras, where ſhe had been with diſpatches from Sir William Burnaby, to the governor of Jucatan, in conſequence of a petition from the merchants of this iſland, deſiring the Admiral to remonſtrate the great diſtreſſes our logwood cutters ſuffered, being drove by the Spaniards from the places where they had ſettled, to the river Baliſe, where little or no logwood could be got. The governor of Jucatan has permitted them in conſequence of the admiral's remonſtrance, to cut logwood in the river Baliſe and New river, twenty leagues from their mouths upward, and from the centre of the New river to four leagues on the other ſide the Baliſe, but intirely prohibits them from Rio Honda.

The 17th article of the late treaty ſays. We ſhall demoliſh all ſuch fortifications as may have been erected by his Majeſty's ſubjects in the Bay of Honduras, and other places in the territory of Spain, in that part of the world, and in conſequence thereof, ſhall be permitted to cut, load and carry away logwood in the ſaid places.

As there were no fortifications to demoliſh in the bay of Honduras, the governor of Jucatan chooſes to underſtand that article of the treaty, only to grant us a right (which formerly we had not) of cutting logwood, in ſuch places as we were eſtabliſhed in, before the late war; and accordingly reſtrains our logwood cutters, under ſevere penalties to the places beforementioned.—However, we hope, this matter will be decided in Europe, as the whole tranſaction is laid before the Britiſh Miniſtry.

Kingſton, October 6. Saturday morning laſt ſailed his Majeſty's frigate Nautilus for Penſacola, with his Excellency George Johnſtone, Eſq; Governor of Weſt-Florida.—The Nautilus is to join Sir John Lindſay, Commodore of his Majeſty's ſhips on the coaſt of Florida.

Port Royal, October 20. The 12th inſt. came in the King-bird, a ſloop belonging to Rhode iſland, ſhe was taken by a French Garde de Côte, and ſent hither by the Count D'Eſtaing, to be delivered up to our governor.—A French officer, the Chevalier D'Arcy, came in her for that purpoſe.

13th. Sailed his Majeſty's ſhip Alarm, for Bonacco harbour, on the Muſquito Shore, with maſts and ſtores for the Swift ſloop.

Laſt Monday night as the pilot-boat belonging to Port-Royal, was lying at an anchor, at a place called the Folly, near the eaſt end of this iſland, a ſmall ſchooner boat came along ſide and boarded her; there were eight negroes in the pilot boats, but only one awake, whom they ſoon ſecured: After which they went off in the pilot boat, and left their own behind. Theſe pirates were five in number, two Frenchmen, two mulattoes, and a negroe, the mulattoes are natives of Antigua, one of them well known at Port-Royal, and has ſailed out of this place; his name is Joſeph Thomas. They were armed with muſquets, and enquired after another pilot boat that is out, and ſaid they were going to Cuba; they permitted one of the pilot negroes (who ſignified a diſinclination to go with them) to go aſhore in a canoe, who gives this account of them.

We hear that the Druid ſloop of war, commanded by Capt. Burnaby, ſails this morning in ſearch of thoſe pirates, and to cruiſe for the protection of the trade going through the windward paſſage; as it is very probable they may attempt to ſurpriſe ſome veſſel, under pretence of being the pilot boat.

A ſchooner with a lieutenant and upwards of twenty men, from the ſquadron was to ſail laſt night in queſt of them, and to call at every place on the iſland of Cuba, where there may be a probability of finding them.

Port Royal, October 26. Monday laſt arrived his Majeſty's Venus. And this morning came in the Alarm with the Swift ſloop under jury maſts.—The Swift was met by the Venus at ſea, and towed by her and the Alarm to this place.

THAT, in conſequence of the great neglect of many of the inhabitants of Charles-Town, in providing buckets and ladders, keeping their chimneys ſwept clean, and of obſerving many other directions, required by the laws now in force, wherein the ſafety and intereſt of the whole community are nearly concerned, they are determined to carry the ſaid laws ſtrictly into execution: And that none may plead ignorance, the following abſtracts are now publiſhed for their information, which the fire-maſters requeſt all perſons concerned ſtrictly to obſerve.

GABRIEL MANIGAULT, BENJAMIN SMITH, THOMAS SMITH, GEORGE SKEED, WILLIAM ANCRUM, } Fire-Maſters.

It is enacted, that every owner or tenant of every dwelling houſe in Charles-Town ſhall provide a leathern bucket of ſix quarts at leaſt, for every fire hearth in ſuch dwelling-houſe, one fourth part of the whole to be ſent to the managers of the fire engines; they are alſo to provide one ladder of a convenient length for each dwelling-houſes which buckets and ladders are to be always ready in caſe of fire, on pain of forfeiting the ſum of Ten pounds; alſo, a penalty of Thirty ſhillings for every bucket withheld, or refuſed in time of fire, and if any buckets ſhall be loſt at ſuch time, the fire-maſters are to ſupply the owners with others in the room of them.

The charge of providing buckets and ladders is to be borne and paid by the landlords and owners of houſes; but as the ſaid charges may be often paid by the tenant in poſſeſſion, who is made liable in caſe of neglect, it is lawful for ſuch tenant to deduct ſo much out of his rent as he ſhall from time to time expend in providing buckets and ladders.

It ſhall be lawful for the fire-maſters to enter into the houſes, out houſes, ſtables and yards, of every owner or tenant, to enquire if they are provided with buckets and ladders; and alſo to view, ſearch and examine, if any quantities of hay, ſtraw, pitch, tar, roſin, turpentine, oil, tallow, ſulphurous or combuſtible matters are lodged in any place within the ſame, which may be in danger of taking fire; and if they find there is danger, it is lawful for them, after having admoniſhed the owner of ſuch houſe or houſes, to remove ſuch combuſtible matter (in caſe of refuſing or neglecting to remove the ſame) at the charge of the owner. All perſons who ſhall ſuffer their chimneys to take fire, and blaze out at the top, ſhall forfeit the ſum of Five pounds.

Upon any alarm in the night time, every inhabitant is to repair to the place where the fire is, with his arms, under the penalty of Forty ſhillings, and ſhall lodge them in ſuch place, near the fire, as ſhall be appointed by the fire-maſters, and the commander of the watch is to order a party of the watch to guard the ſame. All goods and effects removed, are directed to be carried to the place where the arms are directed to be lodged and guarded. The conſtables are to appear with their ſtaves, and aſſiſt in guarding the ſaid goods and effects, till removed to ſome other place of ſafety, under the penalty of Five pounds. Any perſon that embezzles any goods or effects, are to be pilloried, have their ears cut off, and forfeit four times the value thereof.

The fire-maſters are impowered to command any perſon or perſons whatſoever, to aid and aſſiſt in pulling down houſes or buildings, for extinguiſhing of fires, to the utmoſt of their ſtrength, power and ability; and in caſe of refuſal, if a white perſon, he ſhall forfeit Five pounds, and if a ſlave, he ſhall be publickly whipped. All perſons who ſhall do or execute any thing in obedience to the fire-maſters, are indemnified againſt all perſons whatſoever.

Remarkable or conſiderable ſervices, in preventing or extinguiſhing fires, are to be rewarded by the fire-maſters; and in caſe any perſon ſhall be wounded, maimed, or diſabled, in endeavouring to prevent or extinguiſh fire, a reaſonable allowance, maintainance, or proviſion will be made for ſuch perſons.

The maſters or managers of the engines may command any perſon or perſons whoſoever that ſhall be neareſt at hand, when any fire breaks out, to aid and aſſiſt in conveying the engines to the place where the fire ſhall be. A white perſon refuſing ſhall forfeit Forty ſhillings, and a ſlave is to be publickly whipped. A reward of Forty ſhillings to every white perſon, and Twenty ſhillings to every ſlave, to be paid to thoſe who carry the firſt engine to the place where the fire firſt breaks out.

EDWARD BLAKE,

TAKES this method to acquaint the public, that he has rented a wharf, at the ſouth end of Charles-Town bay (called Roper's wharf) on which there are very good brick ſtores, and a good pack-houſe with ſcrews, &c. for packing ſkins. Such gentlemen as pleaſe to order their boats to ſaid wharf, may depend on the greateſt diſpatch and care in unloading, or ſtoring, or packing their goods.
